manlifts and aerial platforms have become common and integral equipment in industrial settings over the last few decades. These equipment provide an easy way to lift staff close to what must be done on a stable platform apparatus, allowing workers to do tasks with greater comfort and safety rather than being perched on top of scaffolding or ladders.

The manlift is similar to other industrial devices in that they are safe when utilized correctly. Since they lift staff above ground level or floor, accidents can easily happen and this could result in serious injuries or fatalities for both the operators of the manlift and whoever passerby who may be unlucky enough to be standing beneath.

There are different kinds of manlifts. The majority fall into 1 of 2 categories: the articulating boom lift, that has the capability of both vertical and horizontal movement and the scissors lift, that is capable of moving upward and downward.
